

Let's face it—Dad is probably the hardest person in your life to shop for. It seems like he already owns two (or more) of everything, and what he doesn't already have, he claims not to need. But when it comes time for birthday, Father's Day, holiday and "just because" gifts for dad, you want to get him something he'll actually use. Here are 6 gift ideas that he'll be excited to unwrap.

Rockcrok®

The way to a man's heart is definitely through his stomach—and the fastest route? An amazing pan that lets him cook his favorites wherever he wants. Meat, chili, baked beans, dessert...this pan does it all, and lets you cook on the stove, broiler, oven, microwave and grill. Can you imagine Dad's famous chili cooked on the grill?!

Keep It Hot Cookware Sweaters

If Dad already has a Rockcrok or another favorite pot, a cookware sweater might be the accessory for him. Although it sounds adorable (and who are we kidding? It's pretty cute...), this nifty neoprene case will keep his food hot up to twice as long. It's perfect for tailgating, or keeping side dishes warm while he finishes cooking the meat.

BBQ Pizza Pan

He loves pizza, and he's crazy about grilling...so why not combine the two? A BBQ Pizza Pan will give him all the fantastic, fresh-off-the-grill flavor on one of his favorite foods. And, there's a good chance he'll save a slice for you!

Chevron Trunk Organizer

There's nothing more dad-like than packing up the car with sports gear and spending the day hitting some balls around. If he's more fanatic than player, he can use this handy trunk organizer to stack the car with tailgating supplies. Either way, he'll be able to pack everything he needs!

BBQ Tools

If serious grilling is his hobby, get him some barbecue tools that will stand the test of time. A set of tongs and a basting brush will get him started, and a turner with a built-in bottle opener will make his day. Bundle it up in a BBQ Mitt for a cute and creative gift he'll love.

Gardening Tools

For the dad that loves the great outdoors and has the greenest of thumbs, there's nothing better than a set of trusty gardening tools. Get him the whole set, or pick and choose which pieces to get him.
